Philip Slein

Open House

Friday, 29th April, 4:00-6:00pm

735 McPherson Ave, St. Louis, MO 63108

The Philip Slein Gallery is pleased to present Monochromatic Paintings, the first St. Louis exhibition for New York painter Robert Sagerman. Merging painting, sculpture, and Jewish mysticism, Robert Sagerman approaches each one of his textured, abstract composition before building up thick, massing monochromatic surfaces that toe the line between painting and sculptural relief. A

In addition, the gallery is pleased to introduce another New York painter, Alison Hall whose work is also rooted in ritual, meditation, and repetition. Like Sagerman's work, Hall's paintings appear to be monochromatic, however, upon further inspection, they are captivating in their formal complexity and subtlety. This event is handicapped accessible.

Duane Reed Gallery

Open House

Friday, 29th April, 4:00-6:00pm

4729 McPherson Ave, St. Louis, MO 63108

We will be exhibiting the work of two established and long time artists, Aaron Karp and James Marshall, both living and working in New Mexico. Although different in mediums; Karp working as a painter and Marshall as a ceramic sculptor, these two artists each create visually powerful work that masterfully utilizes texture and surface quality. Karp approaches his paintings from the perspective of simultaneously concealing and revealing, playing out the metaphor that relates directly to his process of building and fracturing layers of paint. James Marshall's ceramic pieces explore the quality of the liminal nature they represent. These objects exist just past the threshold of the subliminal realm at the point of emergence and its resulting openness and ambiguity. This relationship, existent in both aesthetic and philosophy, establishes a narrative between bodies of work, making for an engaging and stimulating experience for the viewer. This event is handicapped accessible.

Summer Osborne

Friday, 29th April, doors open at 6:00pm, show starts at 7:00pm

The Corner Gates, 1821 Cherokee Street, Saint Louis, MO 63118

Spoken word artists Pacia Elaine & Zaire Imani aka Mama Blue will get the evening started. Then, our special guest from Kansas City, singer/songwriter Kirstie Stremel, will take the stage. Summer Osborne will close out the evening, playing new songs from her latest albums, some of your favorites from her earlier work, and a little bit of everything in between. This is a "listening room" style event, so you can fully enjoy the artists. No talking will be permitted during the show.

$7 General Admission

$15 VIP includes reserved comfortable seating near the stage and admission to the VIP After Party at Lilly's Music & Social House (after party includes one free drink).

Tickets can be purchased online at <http://tinyurl.com/summerstl>

The Webster University Film Series

Here Come the Videofreex

Friday, 29th April, 7:30-10:00pm

Winifred Moore Auditorium, 470 E. Lockwood Ave., St. Louis, MO 63119

Here Come the Videofreex starts in 1969. America is undergoing cultural and political revolutions, but you'd never know it by watching TV. Young CBS executive Don West creates a secret project to tell the stories of the counterculture ignored by TV news. He hires a group of young people who have embraced a brand new medium – video. They name themselves the Videofreex and on CBS's dime, they travel the country in an RV taping footage the networks could never get, including interviews with legendary activist Abbie Hoffman and Black Panther Fred Hampton just months before his murder. The pilot they produce proves to be decades ahead of its time. But when CBS executives see it, they fire the group and say they can keep the "worthless" equipment. The Videofreex decide to stick together, smuggling their videotapes out of CBS offices late one night in a guitar case. This event is handicapped accessible.

Tickets are $4-$6. Advance tickets are available from the cashier before each screening or contact the Film Series office (314) 246-7525 for more options. The Film Series can only accept cash or check.

The Mildred Lane Kemper Art Museum

Art and the Movement of Memory

Saturday, 30th April, 11:00am – 1:00pm

1 Brookings Dr, St. Louis, MO 63112

Memories are not just “in our heads.” The stories of our lives are whole-person experiences, so activating our imagination through visual images and movement can evoke the pathways of reminiscence. Come and see paintings in the permanent collection at the Kemper Art Museum, where we will bring our experiences to life, explore the mindbody connection and discover ways in which memory can be unlocked through movement.

This workshop will be led by David Marchant, Professor of the Practice in Performing Arts Department at Washington University, accompanied by students of the Dance program and the Brown School of Social Work.

Those interested may register with Allison Taylor, Manager of Education at the Mildred Lane Kemper Art Museum, at 314.935.7918 or allison.taylor@wustl.edu. Parking and directions to the Kemper Art Museum may be found at <http://kemperartmuseum.wustl.edu/>

Temple Emanuel

Gulliver's Travails: U.S. Foreign Policy Struggles in the Brave New World

Sunday, 1st May 216, 10:30am-11:30am

Guest speaker is Dr. J. Martin Rochester, the Curators' Distinguished Teaching Professor of Political Science at the University of Missouri St. Louis.

Dr. Rochester will give a "big picture" look at how the United States, at least on paper, is the only superpower left standing in the post-Cold War era, yet seems a "helpless hegemon" unable to exercise influence and achieve foreign policy success anywhere. These are important issues as we go to the polls in November.

Artist's Guild: Riverwork Project

Fiber Art with Suzy Farren

Wednesdat, 4th May, 6:30pm

St.Louis Artis's Guild Clayton, 12 N. Jackson (at Forsyth) 63105

If you love to knit, felt, stitch, hook rugs, quilt, make books, eco-dye, make baskets, and more, plan to attend. We'll be treated to a gallery walkabout with Sun Smith-Foret and Riverworks Project artists. Hear the stories behind the vast 200' textile installation. Lynn Hamilton, Maturity and Its Muse, will say a few words about its festival Celebrating Art for Senior Engagement.

Riverwork Project is a 300+linear foot series of textile segments made with participation of 100+ mostly regional artists. It is based on the idea 'River", including history, settlement, nature, flora, fauna, light and reflection, dreams, memories, family commerce, slave trade, Native American, Immigrant and African American experience. Text includes references to films, songs, writing and poetry about 'River' and human response to WATER as primary life source, holder of emotional content, symbol.

Textiles will be installed throughout Artist's Guild space with Glass Sculpture and Photographs by Libby Reuter and Josh Rowan of Watershed Cairns. The exhibition runs from 22nd April to 8th May. The event is handicapped accessible.

Saint Louis Story Stitchers Artists Collective, St. Louis Storytelling Festival, and Kranzberg Arts Center

Not Another One! A Studio Theater Performance

Saturday, 7th May, 11:00am-12:00pm

Kranzberg Arts Center, 501 N. Grand Blvd, 63103

As part of the 37th annual St. Louis Storytelling Festival, Story Stitchers Artists Collective and teen members will be joined by local seniors to present a thoughtful one-of-a-kind performance. Not Another One! is based on the Collective's ongoing work addressing gun violence prevention. Along with a music and video screening, and original storytelling performances, the Collective will add a new dimension through the live onstage interviews of invited senior citizens in conjunction with the Celebrating Art for Senior Engagement Festival. The Saint Louis Story Stitchers Artists Collective is a 501 (c) (3) non-profit that brings teens and artists together in documenting our community through art, word, video, and music. This event is handicapped accessible.

Congregation Temple Israel 🎵

Performance by Chavurat Shira Choir

Saturday, 7th May, 7:30pm

#1 Rabbi Alvan D. Rubin Drive St. Louis, MO 63141

Temple Israel is going to have a dessert reception at 7:00, followed by a concert by Chavurat Shira, our congregational choir, at 7:30. Temple Israel's choir, Chavurat Shira, will perform a concert of a wide selection of music, including musical theater, opera, liturgy and more. Led by Molly Stehn, with accompaniment by Dan Vizer, and joined by Rabbi Feder, this talented group of congregants started out as a circle of friends (chavurah) and has been leading High Holiday and Shabbat worship for several years.

We are delighted to offer free transportation for those in need through the generosity of the Gershman Fund of Temple Israel. We will also be reaching out to local retirement facilities to see if they would like to attend as well. This event is handicapped accessible.

For more information or to arrange for transportation please contact Sydney Masin at TI, 432-8050 or smasin@ti-stl.org

Art Saint Louis and Maturity and its Muse

Celebrating Artistic Experience

16th April - 26th May

223 Pine Street, St. Louis MO 63103

Gallery hours are Mondays 7:00am-4:00pm, Tuesdays through Fridays 7:00am-5:00pm, and Saturdays 8:30am-4:00pm Closed Sundays & holidays. Free & open to the public.

This exhibit showcases the talents of Artists Informed by Time. A juried exhibit, this show was open to artists aged 70+ who, by making art, share their thoughts & ideas about the world and themselves with us. For this exhibit, 163 artworks were submitted by 71 St. Louis regional artists for consideration by exhibition Jurors Lynn Friedman Hamilton and Meredith Malone from which they selected 54 artworks in a variety of media by 58 artists from Missouri and Illinois for the final show. This event is handicapped accessible.

Craft Alliance

Dark Matter: Featuring Terry Boyd and Amanda McCavour

1st May - 8th May

6640 Delmar Blvd, St. Louis MO 63130

Gallery hours are Tuesdays through Fridays 10:00am-5:00pm, Fridays through Saturdays 10:00am-6:00pm and Sunday 11:00am-5:00pm. Closed on Mondays.

Dark Matter features the work of Amanda McCavour and Terry M. Boyd, both of whom expressively use fiber to express emotion and push the boundaries of contemporary fiber art. This exhibition explores the more solemn and introverted emotional states, revealing and reveling in a darker side of our everyday consciousness.

McCavour constructs Black Cloud out of various papers and yarns, creating a dark yet elegant form. The Cloud fills the room, so viewers will be able to interact with the artwork on an intimate level, peeking through it, looking up into it and walking around it. Paired with McCavour's Black Cloud is Terry M. Boyd's aggressive and expressive embroidery. Boyd's 2-dimensional hand sewn pieces are predominantly mono-chromatic works that explore memory and provoke thoughts of vast spaces and abstract landscapes. This event is handicapped accessible.

Georges Rouault: Miserere et Guerre

26th January - 6th May

221 N Grand Blvd, St. Louis, MO 63103

Gallery hours are Tuesdays through Sundays 11:00am-4:00pm. Closed on Mondays.

Georges Rouault is a distinctive figure in twentieth-century art. Born in working-class Paris in 1871, Rouault was apprenticed as a youth to a stained glass workshop. In late 1890, he enrolled in the École des Beaux-Arts, where he became the favorite pupil of Symbolist painter Gustave Moreau. Rouault became involved with the Fauves (among them his classmate Henri Matisse) and began participating in major exhibitions, notably the Salon d'Automne of 1905. Rouault developed his own, primarily Expressionist, style, influenced by his strong affinity for the medieval period. Yet he remained outside of the group movements that dominated the twentieth century, developing a focused, persistent artistic vision expressed in a variety of media.
